

The little people.

We can learn a lot about stories that been passed down to teach us histories.

So this story is about the little people that help the Red children and they hunt for stuff that they need they go in the woods to hunt for they maybe hunt for food.
Or wood to make a fire so they have light. that's probably why they hunt so they don't starve.

